Bilbao

Bilbao is located in the Iberian Peninsula, in its eastern Atlantic watershed -latitude: 43° 15' 42" N, longitude: 2° 55' 43" W-, 19 meters above sea level, and it covers an area of 41.6 square kilometers. Its impressive transportation infrastructure connects it to the rest of Europe by air, land and sea.

Bilbao is the core of a metropolitan area with more than one million inhabitants. Since its foundation, more than 700 years ago, it has been the fundamental factor and the main socio-economic axis around which the Biscay region has set its modernization process in motion.

From Bordeaux to A Coruña, Bilbao's hegemony is undisputable. No other city has better reasons to be the economic, financial, cultural and tourist capital of the region.

PINTXO ROUTES:

People from Bilbao, like the rest of the Basque people, cherish two passions: food and friendship. They nurture them at the same time otherwise they lose some of their allure. All of this is conducive to the fact that the Villa understands snacking as an informal get-together without prior arrangement. In other words, there are groups of friends who do not need to arrange to meet because they know that at a certain time every day of the year; they will come across someone having a pintxo in the bar they regularly go to. Each area has its clientele and each person from Bilbao has his/her friends. This is the way it is. However, for the visitor, Bilbao offers an excellent opportunity to savour the pintxo food culture to the full in seven different areas.

BILBAO NIGHTLIFE:

The character of the locals in Bilbao is so cheerful and open that it shows in the atmosphere. So don't miss the nightlife of this city. For starters, you can enjoy the typical streets to go for a drink in Ledesma, Casco Viejo or Ensanche.

The street cafés, some with spectacular views, are a great alternative. Of course, you'll find cosy bars, some with a bohemian or indie touch, to have a beer. As the evening goes on, the modern pubs where you can enjoy a drink will fill up with people.

The night, which is at its wildest at weekends, goes on. The coolest places to hang out and their sophisticated nightclubs await you with open doors. In Bilbao, you will certainly find an evening to your taste.

FAMOUS CHARACTERS

Sculpture, busts, commemorative plates, streets, documents, poems... recall the men and women of Bilbao who have left their mark on the city in fields as diverse as literature, music, sports... or who have contributed to the development and improvement of the city.

Two names are linked to the origins of Bilbao. The first is of Don Diego Lopez de Haro, the founder of Bilbao and after whom the main street of the city, the Gran Vía, is named and whose sculpture can be seen in the Plaza Circular square. The second is that of his niece, María Díaz de Haro. One of the longest streets in Bilbao's Ensanche is named after her; the city's other founder (her uncle, Don Diego, laid claim over her rights). That iconic district is also home to the Alameda Mazarredo, dedicated to Admiral José de Mazarredo Salazar, considered to be the best tactician of the 18th century.

As regards charitable works, Casilda de Iturrizar, known as the Widow Epalza after the death of her husband, deservedly had the largest and most central park in the city named after her. A street and a monument also remember this illustrious lady of Bilbao who used her huge fortune to support hospital, charity and cultural works.

Miguel de Unamuno is one of the great names of the history of Bilbao. Considered to be one of the leading figures of Spanish literature, he was born in the Casco Viejo, where a square and a bust pay tribute to him. The anniversary of the birth of this intellectual belonging to the Generation of 1898 is celebrated on 29 September.

Bilbao Interesting areas

GRAN VÍA

The Gran Vía Don Diego Lopez de Haro is the street which is the commercial and financial centre of Bilbao, with the buildings of the banks, the El Corte Ingles department store, the Headquarters of the Regional Government of Biscay and the Sota Building. Its design was presented in 1876 by the architect Achúcarro and the engineers Alzola and Hoffmeyer. It is 50 meters wide and 1.5 kilometers long between the Plaza Circular and Plaza del Sagrado Corazón. Before the halfway point is the Plaza de Federico Moyúa, the heart of the Ensanche district of Bilbao, home to the Chávarri Palace and the Hotel Carlton.

THE OLD QUARTER AREA

Metro stop: Casco Viejo

The Casco Viejo or The Seven Streets (Somera, Artecalle, Tendería, Belosticalle, Carnicería Vieja, Barrencalle and Barrencalle Barrena) is the oldest neighborhood and the original nucleus of Bilbao. It forms part of the Ibaiondo district and holds the Plaza Nueva and buildings such as the Arriaga Theatre, Bidebarrieta Library, the Bilbao Stock Exchange, Atxuri railway station, Santiago Cathedral and the churches of San Antón, San Nicolás and Santos Juanes. Its commercial strength is reflected in five hundred shops, most importantly the Ribera Market, the largest indoor food market in Europe.

ALHÓNDIGA

The "Alhóndiga Bilbao" sport and cultural centre, the former wine warehouse redesigned by the Philippe Starck, the French architect, is open to local residents and tourists alike and has become a cultural leisure and social centre. The nearby Plaza de Indautxu square is surrounded by a series of streets with shops and bars and restaurants with a wide and diverse range of products. The shopping streets include Gordóniz, Alameda San Mamés, Urquijo, Gregorio de la Revilla, Ercilla, Doctor Areilza and informacion@guggenheim-bilbao.es

Since opening in 1997, the acquisitions of this museum have focused on works of art from the mid-twentieth century to the present day, thus complementing the collections of the Solomon R. Guggenheim Foundation and at the same time forging a unique identity for itself.

Visited by nearly a million people per year since it opened its doors, one of its main attractions is the ArcelorMittal Gallery, a large space where eight works by sculptor Richard Serra are permanently on display. Of the 24,000 square meters occupied by the Guggenheim Museum Bilbao, 11,000 are dedicated to exhibition spaces.

The origin of the current museum is in the first Fine Arts Museum, founded in 1908 and opened in 1914 and the Modern Art Museum, opened in 1924. Both institutions and their collections were united in 1945, the year that the old building was constructed. In 1970 the modern building was added, and in 2001, a major reform finally gave the museum its current appearance, expanding the exhibition space for the works of art by 1000 square meters.

The collection of the Fine Arts Museum, which opened in 1914, brings together over seven thousand works of art, including paintings, sculptures, works on paper and applied arts, with an outstanding heritage spanning from the twelfth century to the present. It contains important examples of ancient, modern and contemporary painting and has a special interest in the Spanish school of art and in Basque artists, by whom it has a large collection of works.

BILBAO MARITIME MUSEUM

Metro stop: San Mamés

Muelle Ramón De La Sota, 1 48011 Bilbao

The Ría de Bilbao Maritime Museum was opened in 2003. Designed by the architect Juan Francisco Paz, the museum is located under the Euskalduna Bridge. The building, with a surface area of 7,000 square meters, is built using stone, steel and wood, materials that recall the ones used in shipbuilding. The lobby is the pivotal point of the whole inner space, as it provides access to the exhibition area, the store, coffee shop, workshops and media library. The outside area of the museum is the old dry docks of the former Astilleros Euskalduna shipbuilders, and has a surface area of 20,000 square meters.

EUSKALDUNA PALACE

Metro stop: San Mamés

Avenida Abandoibarra, 4 48011 Bilbao

The Euskalduna Palace Conference Centre or Euskalduna Palace Conference and Performing Arts Centre, was the second building built in the urban area of Abandoibarra after the Guggenheim Museum Bilbao. Opened in 1999, it was designed by architects Federico Soriano and Dolores Palacios in corten steel as a symbol of the last vessel built in the old Euskalduna shipyard, which had occupied this space for decades. It now runs a full program of concerts, opera and theatre.

OTHER PLACES TO VISIT NEAR BILBAO

Portugalete:

BISCAY BRIDGE

Metro stop: Areeta / Portugalete

The Biscay Bridge was inaugurated on 28 July 1893, becoming the first transporter bridge in the world built of metal. The design was the work of Alberto Palacio y Elissague, also known for his part in the construction of the Crystal Palace in the Retiro Park in Madrid.

Declared a World Heritage Site by UNESCO in 2006, the Biscay Bridge is a structure made up of four iron towers 61 meters high, linked by a cross beam 160 feet in length, located 45 meters above the sea. The transport of vehicles and passengers is carried out by a hanging carriage or gondola, which is suspended from a 36 wheel trolley that is 25 meters long and travels along the rails of the horizontal section.

Recently, the Biscay Bridge, known to locals as the Puente Colgante and a link between Portugalete and Getxo, abandoned the black colour that characterized its stylized iron body, and was painted "Somorrostro Vein Red", a tone that recalls the mining past of the area and that will gradually age to resemble other iconic pieces of architecture such as the Euskalduna Palace in Bilbao.

To learn about this unusual bridge, there are visits that allow you to go up onto the anchorage block, down to the terraces, to climb back into the elevator to go up along the pedestrian walkway 45 meters above the river (the views from there are amazing) and finally to use the transporter carriage to get to the other side. The complete tour, with audio guide in four languages (Basque, French, English and Spanish), costs 9 Euros; if it is a guided tour for a group, 45 Euros.

PUERTO VIEJO - GETXO

The setting of the picturesque Puerto Viejo, the Old Port of Algorta, a beautiful small maritime enclave in the municipality of Getxo, located barely half an hour from Bilbao by metro, is truly unforgettable. It will steal your heart with its small white cottages clustered together in steep streets where bars "of a bygone age" still exist. A very popular and lively place, where great cuisine, with fish and shellfish as star items on the menu, provides one of its highlights. Groups of friends gather outdoors to enjoy a drink and taste exquisite "pintxos" (bar snacks) while surveying magnificent views over El Abra Bay.

You will fall in love with you the charm of the Puerto Viejo and you will feel transported back to the era when skilled Algorta sailors helped vessels heading to Bilbao to sail in and out of the estuary. The Puerto Viejo forms part of the monumental ensemble classified as a Cultural Asset by the Basque Government Department for Culture.

The best way to reach the Puerto Viejo is by metro. Take Metro Bilbao line 1, going to Larrabasterra or Plentzia, and get off at Algorta station. This pretty little spot is just a short, easy stroll from the station.

SANTURTZI

Santurtzi proudly conserves its past as a major fishing port on the Bay of Biscay. Although there are no longer so many boats, it still maintains an important fleet.

The monument to the Virgen del Carmen, patron saint of the town and of fishermen, watches over all vessels from the harbor. Its seafaring tradition can also be felt in the building of the Fishermen's Guild and on the beautiful Queen Victoria promenade, which runs alongside the River Abra.

And, of course, in the atmosphere in its restaurants. We recommend that you try its famous sardines, the authentic hallmarks of this town. Santurtzi is reached in half an hour and you can travel by metro or train, as well as by car or bus. But the best option it is on foot from Portugalete.

BY CAR

Twice a week it transports people and vehicles to and from the city of Portsmouth in the United Kingdom. The crossing takes 24 hours, or 32 if you choose the option with a stopover in the French port of Roscoff.
